

Exhibits of Protests of Oppressed Parents

Father protesting the activities of social workers and the lopsidedness of family courts in Ontario.

Social worker taking photo of protestor.

Another protestor holding a banner. The last line "Welcome to Canada" is sarcastic to Vancouver's pride as being rated the best place to live by the United Nations. Sadly, this truly reflects a state-created terror rarely known to those who have no dealings with social workers before.

Another view of protestors. Since I download these photos in early 2006, they no longer exist in the web site where I found them.
